Operation of the China New Democratic Youth Corps in Tsingtao

4. The School Activities Committee of the New Democratic Youth Corps in Tsingtao is organized as follows:

Chairman: HSU Man (許曼)

Secretary: LIU Chi-chung (劉濟中)

Department of Propaganda and Education: Chief, KAO Hsing (高行). This department is responsible for propaganda and publicizing the policy of the central government, Marxism and Leninism, and the study of "new democracy."

Department of Culture and Recreation: Chief, LI K'ai-yün (李開運). This department is responsible for students' recreation, social affairs, and advancement.

Department of Organization: Chief, CHANG Lu-yün (張魯云). This department is responsible for examining and directing students' ideology and for absorbing new members.

Department of Women: This department is responsible for conducting youth corps activities and for winning over youths.

5. The youth corps is organized into teams of from five to seven persons, the heads of which are appointed by the youth corps (sic). Each team is to hold discussion meetings twice a week during which members will make open criticisms and study current events. All issues, large or small, will be concluded by the head of the team. Regular projects will be drawn up for the development of the corps' work. A general conclusion on the work will be made each month. To join the youth corps, an applicant must submit a frank biography covering three generations. Such points as the applicant's occupation and his living conditions must be explained in detail. If the biography is found to contain something untrue, the applicant will be not only rejected but placed under surveillance and have to study from the beginning. He will be admitted only when he has made real progress.

25X1A 1. [] Comment. The background of the CNDC and some of its leading personalities were discussed in [] 25X1A

25X1A 2. [] Comment. The Pan Kung T'ing is similar to a secretariat of a western organization; however, it holds much more power.

25X1A 3. [] Comment. Possibly there are elementary and more advanced indoctrination studies and some applicants are permitted to begin with the more advanced studies.
